THE ARIZONA MINER.

Published Daily and Weekly.
Prescott, Yavapai County, Arizona.
JOHN H. MARION.

THE DAILY ARIZONA MINER was started December 1st, 1873, immediately after the completion of Arizona's first telegraph line, and is published on the evenings of Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, of each week, and will always contain THE LATEST, BEST and MOST INTERESTING NEWS that can be procured by Telegraph, Mail, Express and all other late means.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION.—Delivered by carrier to subscribers in Prescott, Fort Whipple and vicinity, FIFTY CENTS A WEEK, payable weekly in advance. The DAILY MINER is mailed to subscribers in Arizona and elsewhere for FIFTY DOLLARS A YEAR; FIVE DOLLARS for six months; FOUR DOLLARS for three months, and ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY CENTS for one month. These are cash prices, payable in advance.

On Friday, the STEAMSHIP MINER, containing telegraphic news to the hour of going to press, will be furnished at DAILY subscription without extra charge. ADVERTISING RATES.—In the Daily or Weekly, one inch (10 lines of type), in column, $5.00 for first insertion, and $1.50 per inch for each additional insertion. A liberal discount from above rates will be made to persons who may advertise largely by the year, half year or quarter.

Professional and business cards inserted upon reasonable terms. Persons sending in money for subscription, advertising or job work, may forward it by mail, or otherwise, at their own risk.

THE WEEKLY MINER.

The first number of the WEEKLY MINER was issued on March 8, 1874, and now, in this its eleventh year, it can, with truth, claim to be the oldest, largest and best newspaper in the Territory.

Subscription Rates: One Copy, One Year, $7.00; Six Months, $4.00; Three Months, $2.50; Single Copies, 25 Cts. Legal Tender Notes taken at par in payment for subscription, advertising and job work. ADVERTISING.—Address all orders and letters to "THE MINER," Prescott, Arizona.

THE COUNTY BUILDING QUESTION.

PRESOTT, April 27, 1874.

EDITOR MINER:—Some eight or ten days ago I read a communication in the MINER headed "The County Building Question," and signed "Citizen." I concur in the opinion of Citizen as expressed in his communication, that the contract with Mr. Lount for the building of a fire-proof house for the county, to be used for county offices, should be abrogated, for the additional reason to what was given in his communication, that if built in the place now designated, it will not be fire-proof. A wall 22 inches thick is not a fire-proof wall in moderately favorable circumstances, and will certainly not be when covered with a wooden roof, and a log-frame house (the county house) adjoining, and with other frame buildings fronting it to the windward on the other side of the street. If the commissioners think that 12 or 18 inches of dirt underneath the roof on top of the joists will protect the inside of the house against the heat of the roof while burning, let them go into the woods and examine the depth to which the ground has been burnt by the burning of logs,—until it is as red as a brick. Then they may perhaps be able to make a moderately close calculation about how much assistance the roof will lend the old court-house, and the buildings across the way, in heating the atmosphere in the inside of the house to a sufficient degree to ignite matches, kerosene oil, recently painted surfaces, and such other inflammable material as may be in the house.

The fact of the case is this, in the opinion, as I know, of many of the people of this town; that if said house is completed, the records of the county will be intrusted to the safety of the house; and it is only a question of time when they will all be burnt up. Let us have a fire-proof recorders' office built, in which to keep the records of the county. This is all we need in the office line, and is what our grand jurors have several times recommended, and is all that they ever did recommend in the office line. But make it fire-proof beyond all question or doubt. Build a wall 30 inches thick out of adobe; then build a brick wall outside of that, the thickness of the length of a brick, leaving the adobe nowhere exposed to the weather. Leave a space the width of a brick between the walls to serve as a dead air chamber; put on a tin roof and cover it with six or eight inches of dirt on top; fix the openings right and you will have a fire-proof house.

As to the building of a new court-house, there are many mechanical and other reasons why it should not be commenced now; but as I think such intentions cannot be seriously entertained by the commissioners, I will not mention any of them now.

Mechanic.

A Salt Lake dispatch says that the man captured there as Old Bender, the notorious Kansas murderer, has been positively identified by three persons, two of whom were from Kansas. One of these witnesses says he superintended the building of a coal which passed by the den of the Bender family, and saw the old fellow every day for months—thinks he can't be mistaken.

The Yanqui banditti still continue their depredations in Los Angeles county. Their last job being to stop a wagon near the old San Gabriel Mission, and abstract from four innocent young men the little change they had about them, and their watches. All this while half a dozen officers were in sight of them on horseback. Rather a cheeky procedure.

Each Thursday in this month the sub-treasurer at New York tells and has sold $1,000,000 of the Government gold.

Teamsters have inaugurated a competition with the water route, and are hauling freight from San Diego to Tucson for forty-four dollars and fifty cents. Less than one half what Prescottians have to pay on freight from Ehrenburg.

The marriage of Miss Nellie Grant, daughter of the President, is announced to take place some time in May.

The amount of prize money which goes to Farragut and those who served under him is $750,000, and is now ready for distribution. One-twentieth of this amount goes to the Farragut heirs.

The loss by the foundering of the steamship Europe is estimated at $3,250,000.

PRESOTT, ARIZONA, FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 1, 1874.

MILITARY NEWS, DEPARTMENT OF ARIZONA.

[From Saturday's Daily.]
The hop at Fort Whipple last evening was very fully attended, and dancing was kept up until long after midnight. The number of ladies present from town and the two posts of Whipple and Verde was greater than upon any former occasion.

Gen Crook left Whipple this morning for Ehrenburg and the new military station at La Paz.

Lieut Eaton left this morning for Beale Springs, of which post he will have charge, temporarily.

The officer recently tried at Camp Grant was Capt Adam; the proceedings in the case have not yet been made public.

[From Monday's Daily.]
On Saturday evening, Lieut and Mrs Rice were the recipients of a complimentary serenade, tendered them by their numerous friends who secured the services of the 23d infantry band, which rendered, for the occasion, a number of its choicest selections. We omitted to mention in our last issue that Mrs Mason, Miss Hitchcock and Lieut Cowles came over from Camp Verde to assist in the marriage ceremony of Lieut Rice and Miss Kelly. The ladies appeared to greatly enjoy their visit, which terminated yesterday.

Capt Wilson accompanied the party back to Verde. Before his departure, Capt Wilson was called upon by a number of friends, interested in learning something concerning the Big Bug trail, with which the Captain has become well acquainted.

The map of the military telegraph line, prepared under the direction of Gen Crook, by Capt Geo F. Price, 5th cavalry, has been received from the Engineer office in San Francisco, where it was very handsomely photographed and mounted by Capt Lydecker, of the engineer corps of the regular army.

This map will prove an important acquisition to the cartography of our Territory, and is really an elegant as well as accurate piece of workmanship. Arizona, through the expedition of her own surveyors, and the topographical sketches prepared by the numerous military reconnaissances and scouting parties constantly moving about the country, will soon be better known and appreciated than many more accessible localities.

Gen Crook will be absent about two weeks. Col Nelson, paymaster, was, at last accounts, in San Francisco. Capt Nickerson was also in San Francisco, much improved in health, which had become seriously impaired by his hard labors in this department.

Arrangements, we hear, are being made for the establishment at Fort Whipple of a military school, to be superintended by the post chaplain, Rev Mr Gilmore.

Work on the new buildings at Whipple is being pushed with unremitting energy. This morning an additional force of 25 soldiers was placed upon the new quarters and such houses, which are already well under way. One of the structures to be used as residences is about ready for inside finish; another almost equally as far advanced, and the rest going up as fast as labor can make them.

These buildings will not only be comfortable as quarters, and commodious as storehouses, but well arranged, finely ventilated, compactly built and of tasteful exterior. General Small, acting chief quartermaster, expects to have the buildings finished by May 30th to June 15th.

The condition of Col Copping is improving slowly. Major Royall, 5th cavalry, has been ordered from San Francisco to Los Angeles for temporary duty as member of the board of officers for the purchase of horses. After this, we hear, he will come to Arizona and assume command of this regiment.

Col Dodge, the new commander of the 23d infantry, ought to be in Prescott very soon. When last heard from, was at Fort Wingate, New Mexico, about the 21st ultimo.

THE SENATOR FROM MISSOURI.—When Carl Schurz is sitting in his seat he does not impress the spectator with the idea of a tall man. But when he arises you wonder where his seat will stop going up towards the clouds. After he is "towered" to a certain altitude, and all the links and kinks and humps come straightened, he gives an aboriginal and twisted twist, as much as to say, "Shades of the mighty Schiller! if only one could touch the top of space!" Then there is a shake of the long, brown, curling locks, as a lion tosses his mane, for all the royal animals of creation are similar in the way they shake their manes. It is not a growl. The ear is greeted with the sweetest and softest strains of the human voice. Who has ever read Oliver Wendell Holmes' description of those velvet and flute-like tones which the people of the world, of Beethoven? Carl Schurz has a voice like the wind sighing through the sugar-cane, and his classical English flows in the sea of rhythmical music. In department this distinguished German orator would neither attract notice for either awkwardness or grace. The personality of the man is lost, because his mind is fully engaged in following his subtle thread of argument, which is fairly entangled with the pearls of thought.—(Washington correspondent Philadelphia Press.)

FEDERAL OFFICERS.—According to the recently issued official register of the civil, military, and naval officers and employees of the government, the total number so employed is over 130,000. Of these the executive department counts ten; the legislative six hundred and twenty-five; the department of State, or under its authority, five hundred and eight; treasury department, twelve thousand five hundred; war department, including the army, thirty-four thousand; navy department, including the navy, twelve thousand; interior department, twenty-seven thousand and five hundred; department of Justice, including the supreme and other courts of the United States, but exclusive of court employees, five hundred and seventy-one; department of agriculture, ninety-three; and general post-office, including postmasters, sixty-seven thousand, four hundred and ninety-seven.

The telegraph tells us that Dr. Peter Thomas, the "colored physician" who was tried here some time ago, for practicing medicine without the requisite diploma, has come to grief at Tucson, for the same offense.

The House of Representatives has passed Delegate McCormick's bill to prevent the destruction of the buffalo. It prohibits the killing of the buffalo except for food, and all buffalo cows altogether.

The Los Angeles Express of the 17th inst., announces the arrival in that city of our fellow-townsmen Wm M. Buffum, and says he was "looking as fine as silk."

A man named Galvin, of the gambling fraternity, was shot and mortally wounded in an affray at Pioche, recently.

THE DAILY MINER.

Being desirous of increasing the circulation of the DAILY MINER throughout the Territory, Southern California, New Mexico and elsewhere, I have reduced prices at which the paper will hereafter be furnished to persons, by mail, until, now, they are but a trifle higher than rates at which publishers of dailies in Southern California mail their publications, and from which I do not look for much profit. I do, however, hope for such an increase in the circulation of the DAILY MINER as will enable me to run it with some profit to myself and the Territory.

At present, all my energy and resources are taxed to the utmost to make "ends meet," but I do not appeal to my fellow-citizens of Arizona to subscribe for the Daily, because it is an Arizona Daily,—the only one in the Territory. Not at all, I want no man's name or money who would feel that, by subscribing for the paper, he would, merely, be doing a charitable, patriotic act, as I consider the paper, with its pretty full telegraphic reports; its devotion to county and Territorial news, etc., well worth the small sum of fifteen greenback dollars (which are not dollars) a year.

J. H. MARION.

NOTES FROM WICKENBURG.

WICKENBURG, A. T., April 10, 1874.

George Monroe has returned to his mine, with tools and supplies for six months. After a run of six weeks, he cleaned up and brought in $1,000 in gold bullion, which is considered pretty good work for an amateur.

Uncle Ike Bradshaw is down 70 feet on his Mammoth silver mine. The ore mass is from twenty to twenty-five feet wide at the surface, assaying about $70 per ton, and maintains its character to the bottom of the shaft.

Considerable bullion is coming in from Antelope and Humboldt districts almost daily, causing quite a revival of business amongst our merchants who are doing quite a lively business in the way of mining outfits.

Mr. Gusebary, before leaving for California, contracted for the delivery of one thousand tons of surface ore from the Gusebary silver mine at Wickenburg. The contract has been taken by a party of Nevada miners who feel sanguine about getting the entire amount out in three months. As the ore has to be brought in on pack mules, it is doubtful if they can accomplish it in that time.

The lowest estimate made of the value of this ore, is two thousand dollars to the ton, which will make it rank with the best mine in Wallapai district, as reported by Governor Safford.

Considerable excitement is manifested about places in this neighborhood, but our candid opinion is that they do not amount to much, and we do not give credence to all the stories we have heard.

The garden of our great horticulturist, Mr. Ramirez, is a wilderness of sweets, and, as usual, is being longed for by its long fields of barley and rye.

Chas is abundant, but, in some localities, is getting short. This we learn from men who have not in the stock business. COR.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Wm B. Hooper & Co., in another column, offering for sale a large lot of cattle, horses, etc., at their ranch near Camp Grant, and at various reservations throughout the Territory; also, every thing needed by ranchmen and stock raisers. This is certainly an excellent opportunity for any person or persons desiring to engage in that line of business, and can be purchased at a figure remarkably low, and upon terms at which none can complain. From other parties we have learned that their stock cattle are far above the average and in excellent condition, and offered at a lower rate than ordinary men could purchase elsewhere and bring into the Territory.

The Steamer Great Eastern, with her 25,000 tons burthen, which proved a failure for ordinary commerce, and perhaps unprofitable to her owners, has, if nothing else, been of great service to civilization, in laying the ocean cables, which could have been successfully done by no other vessel in existence. She has been almost continually engaged in this service for years past, and is now about to take on board the line to be laid from Cape Verde islands to Brazil.

We have frightful accounts of starvation in India. The British government has extended relief which has saved many from starving. But where famine reaches over so great an extent of country, it is found impossible to give help to all.

Mr Louis Hommel, having dissolved his connection with the Review of Albuquerque, N. M., has gone back to Los Vegas and recommenced the publication of the Gazette. This same office was "torn up and pitched out" by a mob about six months or more ago, and the gentleman shows unmistakable pluck to go back to it again. Wish you success, Mr Hommel.

The Mining Life, of Silver City, N. M., comes to us this week so poorly printed as to be unreadable. We usually find items of considerable interest from that flourishing camp, and we would ask brother Scott to try a new roller, and send us a better one next time.

From January first up to the 9th instant, sixty-one persons have died in San Francisco, into whose death it was thought necessary an investigation should be held. Among the number were fourteen suicides and quite as many murders. A few were accidents, and the remainder those of persons found dead or who died so suddenly as to excite suspicion as to the cause of death. This is a very long list for a place of less than 200,000 inhabitants.

Subscriptions have recently been raised for the relief of the poor people residing in Albuquerque, New Mexico and vicinity. All of this, too, in the leading agricultural county of that territory, where want on the part of the people of that section has heretofore been unknown.

Some of the ore taken from Wallapai to Los Angeles by Col Boel has been assayed by Woodhull & Backus of that place, and produced the handsome figure of $11,500 to the ton. So says the Express of the 13th inst.

AS THE LEAF.

There the forests, low winds sighing, seem like wand'ring spirits trying To give vent to some weird grief; And the fading sunlight lingers, Tinting, as with magic fingers, Traces of these mystic slingers On each leaf.

Like the bright glow of the wildwood, fades the vivid flush of childhood; Then come cares without relief; But we hope, as each new morn' Comes, that we may haply borrow Respite, on the Autumn morn'ow, Like a leaf.

Like the leaves that here are gleaming, Is the life from strong hearts streaming— Rushing out to bold relief; For, like leaves from off their branches, Out of cities, deserts, trenches, Every moment some soul launches— Falling lost.

Slowly, too, our lives are fading: First in dimly traced shading— Then in veining—bright but brief— Till the dim light lights up wholly, And the new light drifts so slowly, Gliding on each plant so lowly Many a leaf.

Like the leaves we are succeeded: God affords us this belief: That we fall, our dust will nourish Other leaves to live and flourish, And our memories they'll cherish— Each new leaf.

By our Savior's calm direction, Is the day of resurrection, Out of earth shall every leaf Be uplifted into Heaven— In His crown a place be given— Every leaf.

—[Yds Adds, in the Los Angeles Express.]

A gentleman down town, who, perhaps, knows how it is, sends on the following on the subject of poverty versus wealth:

What a jostling of humanity! what a babble. Each striving and struggling and pulling down the other; the poor striving to subvert honesty, the rich striving to crush the poor. So it always has been; so it will ever be. Each created by the same Being; all responsible to the same God. The blood flowing in their veins is one and the same—human. The soul created by the same God. What think you of that? You who assume to be rich, or may be, assume to possess better blood than the poor. What a shame!—a perfect farce. How ridiculous you appear to any and all sensible people. Where exists true virtue and principle? The poor possess it; the rich buy it, or steal it; but the blood royal which flows in the veins of the rich is the same as the blood of the poor. They are ever obedient to human form; ever ready to herald their master's coming; ready to slink away into dark places and watch the movements of their intended victim; and ever ready with open mouth to proclaim their personal superiority over others; yet inwardly trembling lest they lose favor with their masters. They are the scum of the human race; nothing lower on the face of God's earth than one of those scullions; the world is full of them; every community has them. COMMON SENSE.

WONDERS OF AUSTRALIA.—YONKERS TREES.—The Brisbane (Australia) Courier, of 21st inst., contains an account of the Yonkers trees, named in honor of Mr. Walter Hill, the Government botanist, dated from Cardwell on the 27th inst. The Queensland Secretary for Lands: "Since the 20th of November, Russell, Mossman, Dalrymple and Hill rivers, and have been the scene of a successful finding suitable land for sugar and other tropical and semi-tropical productions. The ascent of the summit of Belvidere Hill was successfully made by Johnston, Hill and eight troopers. At 2,500 feet in height we observed an extraordinary tree, a crissum flower, which excels the Poliochone regia, and the Jacaranda mimosaefolia. At 4,000 feet a tree fern, which will excel in grandeur all others of the Australian class. A palm tree at the same height, which will rival any of the British India species in grandeur. On the banks of the Dalrymple we saw a palm tree cocoa, which he exceeds the unique specimen in the garden of the same genus from Brazil in grandeur and gracefulness. While cutting a given line on the banks of the river Johnstone, for the purpose of examining the land, an enormous fig tree stood in the way, its spreading branches and grandeur the renowned forest glades in California and Victoria. Three feet from the ground it measured 150 feet in circumference; at fifty-five feet, where it sent forth giant branches, the stem was nearly three feet in diameter. The river Johnstone, within a limited distance of the coast, offers the first and best inducements to sugar cultivation.

PARADOXES.—Water thrown into a red-hot metallic vessel does not boil, as we should expect, but quietly gathers itself together, forming a more or less perfect sphere, and in that condition floats about gracefully on the hot surface as it slowly evaporates away. If at the same time a very volatile substance, as liquid sulphurous acid, is thrown into the vessel, the water may actually freeze on the red-hot vessel. Water boiled in glass flask until the upper part of the vessel is filled with steam, and then dexterously corked before air can pass admission and placed in cold water, resuscitates to boil. The boiling is produced by cold instead of heat, and the experiment is known as the ordinary paradox. If steam from water boiling at 212 degrees is passed into a solution of salt water, the temperature of the solution steadily rises, raising the 212 degrees reaches the boiling point of the solution; finally the latter also boils at a temperature of as high as even higher than 250 degrees, according to its nature. There we have the extraordinary result of obtaining a higher temperature, say 250 degrees. If there is anything in nature that possesses a positive character it is light. Yet the physicist may so reflect the heat on to state; its own source as to cause it to destroy itself and produce darkness. In like manner two sounds may be made to interfere with each other, and either produce silence or increased intensity of sound, at the will of the operator.

A PEACH PROSPECT IN CUBA.—New York, April 1st.—The Diario, of Havana, whose editor was Intendente of Havana under Comodoro Captain-Generalship, is publishing editorials supposed from the editor's former connection to be inspired by the Spanish party, urging the special advantages to the island that would follow the restoration of peace. The object is believed to be to prepare the way for a manifesto by prominent Havana Cubans demanding a trace between the Loyalists and insurgents, followed by a formal treaty of peace on the basis which includes a pledge that the island shall remain united to the Crown of Spain; that the people shall elect Representatives to the Cortes; slavery shall only be restored by consent of the owners, and in case emancipation should be decreed, their owners to be indemnified; a general amnesty to be granted for all political offenses, and all embargoed property to be restored to the original owners.

The new Pension Agent at San Francisco has forwarded to the Pension Bureau in Washington a full account of the condition of his office as it was left by H. C. Bennett, his predecessor, who absconded, leaving a deficiency of $6,000. The manner in which he defrauded the government was by filling out false vouchers to fictitious persons, and by commingling with some broker causing the accounts to be paid.

A New York lady has reported on her visit to a bar-room. After describing the horrible paraphernalia of the bar, she goes on to state: "Via the rear, upon a table, the semi-dead, awful game of fire was being played by a crowd of madmen, excited men. This game of fire is played with two sticks, four balls and any number of pieces of chalk.
